General Reminders

- The current COVID-19 pandemic is an evolving situation. Governmental and private actors continue to assess the impact of the pandemic on small businesses and others, and new programs (or changes to existing ones) continue to develop. The current stay-at-home orders in effect in the Los Angeles area will continue to be modified as restrictions are relaxed and businesses are gradually allowed to reopen over the coming weeks and months. Check reliable sources (see list at the end for some suggestions) for updates. A general roadmap of the reopening process can be found here.
- It is important that your business comply with all applicable stay-at-home orders and reopening requirements, including those issued at the state, county and city levels. Carefully evaluate the requirements of each applicable order to ensure that your business operations are in full compliance.

Q: Which stay-at-home orders apply to my business?

Businesses in the greater Los Angeles area must comply with the COVID-19 stay-at-home orders and related rules issued by the State of California, the County of Los Angeles and the government of the City or Cities in which they are located.

The statewide and countywide orders do not preempt stricter rules imposed at the city level. You should therefore review the requirements of each applicable order and ensure that you operate your business in compliance with each of them.

Q: What's in the California statewide stay-at-home order?

On March 19, 2020, Governor Newsom issued Executive Order N-33-20 directing all California residents to stay home except as needed to maintain critical infrastructure sectors. The full text of the statewide order can be found here.

1. Essential Businesses: Businesses classified as “Essential Critical Infrastructure” are exempt from the order and may remain open. Examples of exempt businesses include gas stations, pharmacies, grocery stores, banks, and essential government functions. A full list of businesses deemed “essential” under the statewide order can be found here.
2. Non-Essential Businesses: Under the original statewide order, all California businesses classified as non-essential were required to close all in-person operations. Examples of non-essential businesses include dine-in restaurants, entertainment venues, gyms and hair salons. After a brief reopening period, Governor Newsom issued a statewide order on July 13, re-closing indoor operation of certain non-essential businesses such as dine-in restaurants, wineries, movie theatres etc. The full text of the July 13 statewide order can be found here.
3. Gradual Reopening of Non-Essential Businesses: Non-essential businesses will be allowed to gradually reopen in the future pursuant to the statewide reopening roadmap, which can be found here. The statewide reopening process is currently in early Stage 2, which allows for the gradual reopening of some lower-risk businesses. Currently, retail, related logistics and manufacturing, office workplaces, limited personal services, outdoor museums and childcare services may reopen with restrictions. Statewide industry-specific health guidance and restrictions for reopening can be found here, and a Playbook to help plan and prepare for reopening businesses can be found here.
4. County Monitoring List: The pace of reopening will vary between counties. Counties that have remained on the statewide County Monitoring List for three consecutive days are required to close additional indoor industries and activities, including gyms, places of worship (including with respect to cultural ceremonies like weddings and funerals), indoor shopping malls, hair salons and barbershops and certain personal care services. As discussed below, Los Angeles County is on the County Monitoring List and is subject to these additional restrictions. More information about the County Monitoring List can be found here.

Q: What's in the Los Angeles County stay-at-home order?

Los Angeles County issued a revised stay-at-home order on July 18, 2020 that addresses the gradual reopening process for non-essential businesses. The county order aligns with the California Governor's July 13 statewide order and the State Public Health Officer's phased reopening approach. The full text of the revised county order can be found here.

1. Essential Businesses: Essential businesses are allowed to remain open during the COVID-19 emergency, but must implement and maintain a Social Distancing Protocol, which can be found here (non-essential businesses must follow separate reopening protocols, as discussed below). Los Angeles County operates an online Business & Worker Disaster Help Center, which is available to assist businesses in determining whether they qualify as "essential" under the countywide order. The Help Center can be accessed here. An FAQ sheet with additional guidance from the county can be found here.

2. Gradual Reopening of Non-Essential Businesses: Non-essential businesses in Los Angeles County were initially required to close all in-person operations, but certain low-risk non-essential businesses are now being allowed to gradually reopen with restrictions. These low-risk businesses include non-essential retail, manufacturing and logistics businesses that support retail, office-based businesses, and indoor malls and shopping centers. However, certain industries and activities have been required to re-close pursuant to the updated statewide order and because Los Angeles County has remained on the County Monitoring List for more than three consecutive days. Starting on July 13, the County re-closed indoor operations of restaurants, fitness centers, places of worship, offices of non-critical sectors, personal care services, hair salons and barbershops, and malls. More information about which non-essential businesses are currently allowed to reopen can be found here and here.

Reopening non-essential businesses must adhere to the applicable county reopening protocol, as listed below. These protocols address safety requirements such as social distancing, cloth facemasks, and building occupancy limits, and each protocol has been updated to reflect the re-closure of certain indoor operations under the July 18 county order. Reopening businesses should carefully review the applicable protocol to make sure all requirements are met.

- a. Non-essential retail businesses reopening for in-person shopping must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Retail Establishments: Opening for In Person Shopping, which can be found here.

- b. Manufacturing and logistics businesses that support non-essential retail businesses must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Warehousing, Manufacturing and Logistic Establishments, which can be found here.

- c. Non-essential office-based businesses must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Office Worksites, which can be found here.
 - d. Places of worship must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Places of Worship, which can be found here.
 - e. Indoor malls and shopping centers must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocols for Shopping Center Operators, which can be found here.
 - f. Hair salons and barbershops must prepare, implement and post the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Hair Salons and Barbershops, which can be found here.
 - g. Restaurants reopening for on-site dining must prepare, implement and follow the Protocol for Restaurants, which can be found here.
 - h. Music, television and film production must prepare, implement and follow the Reopening Protocol for Music, Television and Film Production, which can be found here.
 - i. Gyms and other fitness facilities must prepare, implement and post the Reopening Protocol for Gyms and Fitness Establishments, which can be found here.
 - j. Museums and galleries must prepare, implement and post the Reopening Protocol for Museums, Galleries, Zoos, and Aquariums, which can be found here.
 - k. Campgrounds and RV parks must prepare, implement and post the Reopening Protocol for Campgrounds, RV parks, and Cabin Rental Units, which can be found here.
 - l. Hotels, lodging and short-term rental services must prepare, implement and post the Reopening Protocol for Hotels, Lodging and Short-Term Rentals, which can be found here.
 - m. Personal care establishments must prepare, implement and post the Reopening Protocol for Personal Care Establishments, which can be found here.
3. Cloth Mask Requirement: The Social Distancing Protocol (for essential businesses) and reopening protocols (for non-essential businesses) require employers in Los Angeles County to provide cloth facemasks to all employees whose duties require contact with other employees and/or the public.

Q: What's in the City of Los Angeles stay-at-home order?

On August 7, Mayor Garcetti issued a revised stay-at-home emergency order describing the reinstatement of certain restrictions and the process for reopening non-essential businesses in the City of Los Angeles. The restrictions and reopening process in the city order align with the Los Angeles County order. The full text of the city order can be found here.

1. Essential Businesses: As the county and statewide orders, the city order allows essential businesses to remain open during the COVID-19 emergency. The city order's classification of essential and non-essential businesses aligns with the county and statewide orders. An FAQ sheet and more detailed guidance for businesses under the city order can be found here and here.
2. Gradual Reopening of Non-Essential Businesses: The process for reopening non-essential businesses under the city order aligns with the Los Angeles County order. Therefore, on July 13, the City also closed down certain businesses that had been allowed to reopen for a short period of time— including indoor restaurants, gyms, places of worship, indoor malls, hair salons and barber shops, nail salons, as well as tattoo and massage parlors.

Reopening businesses in the City of Los Angeles must adhere to the applicable Los Angeles County reopening protocol (as discussed above). Additionally, public-facing businesses, including retail stores and restaurants, must comply with the following notice requirements:

- a. The applicable protocol must be posted at or near the entrance to the facility so that it is easily viewable by the public and employees;
 - b. Copies of the protocol must be provided to each employee performing work at the facility; and
 - c. The business must be able to provide evidence that the applicable protocol is being implemented.
3. Cloth Mask Requirement: Pursuant to the city stay-at-home order and a separate Worker Protection Order (which can be found here), businesses conducting in-person operations in the City of Los Angeles must require workers and customers to wear cloth face coverings. These businesses must provide their employees with face coverings at the employer's expense and employees must be permitted to wash their hands or use hand sanitizer at least every 30 minutes. Businesses may refuse service to any customer not wearing a face covering.

Q: What resources are available if my business is adversely impacted by the current COVID-19 pandemic?

For general guidance on resources for small businesses impacted by COVID-19, please refer, among other resources, to Bet Tzedek's FAQ sheets regarding [EMERGENCY FINANCING], [ALTERNATIVE BUSINESS MODELS], [TAX], and [INSURANCE/WORKERS]. The following specific resources are also available:

1. SBDC Advisors: Advisors from the Los Angeles Regional Small Business Development Council are available to assist small business owners at no cost with questions about disaster preparedness and recovery. Call (562) 938-5020 for more information, or view the LA SBDC COVID-19 Response Guide here.
2. Microloan Program: The City of Los Angeles will support small businesses impacted by the stay-at-home orders through its Small Business Emergency Microloan program. This program offers no-fee microloans of up to $20,000 to cover working capital. Information about the program can be found here. Additional financing resources are described in our [EMERGENCY FINANCING FAQ].
3. Resilience Toolkit: A COVID-19 Small Business Resilience Toolkit prepared by the City of Los Angeles can be found here.

Q: Are in-person religious services allowed?

Places of worship in the greater Los Angeles area generally are not exempt from compliance, and thus must comply, with the COVID-19 stay-at-home orders and related rules issued by the State of California, the County of Los Angeles and the government of the city or cities in which they are located.

1. Statewide Rules: As of July 13, counties that have remained on the County Monitoring List for three consecutive days are required to shut down indoor places of worship unless they can be modified to operate outside. Guidelines and restrictions regarding places of worship are set forth here.
2. Los Angeles County Rules: Places of worship in Los Angeles County must comply with the statewide guidelines referenced above. As of July 13, because Los Angeles County has remained on the County Monitoring List for more than three consecutive days, indoor operations of places of worship are currently closed. For allowable activities, places of worship must refer to the mandatory Reopening Protocol for Places of Worship, which can be found here.

3. City of Los Angeles Rules: Places of worship in the City of Los Angeles must also comply with the Los Angeles County protocols and statewide guidelines referenced above. Thus, as of July 13, indoor places of worship are not permitted to open in the City of Los Angeles. Also, places of worship must refer to the Los Angeles County Public Health Department for the required protocols for allowable activity at this time, which can be found here.

Q: What if my business is in a different county or city?

Owners of businesses located outside of Los Angeles County should contact their county health department for information on any applicable county stay-at-home orders. Not all counties have issued stay-at-home orders. Links to county-level COVID-19 guidance and orders can be found here.

Owners of businesses located in a city other than Los Angeles (whether within or outside of Los Angeles County) should contact their city mayor's office or health department for information on any applicable city stay-at-home orders. Not all cities have issued stay-at-home orders.
